Criminal Conversations

An Anthology of the Work of Tony Parker

This anthology, selected by Tony Parker shortly before his death in 1996, provides the very essence of his quite distinctive contribution to criminology. In it he speaks intimately to all kinds of people including offenders, inadequates, professional criminals, sex offenders, frauds and false pretence merchants and prisoners on death row. Lyn Smith concludes with some reflections on his methodology. This collection celebrates an outstanding body of work and provides a fascinating insight into the criminal mind and experience. It will be compelling reading not only for those studying criminology, probation or prison studies, but also for the interested general reader.

Described as 'A unique observer of human behaviour' (The Observer), Tony Parker has been the outstanding interviewer of criminals since the Second World War. In this anthology of thirty years of his work he speaks with all kinds of offenders.
