

Whyte

Man-Made Future

---

This anthology of essays by a group of distinguished scholars investigates post-1945 city planning in Britain; not from a technical viewpoint, but as a polemical, visual and educational phenomenon, shifting the focus of scholarly interest towards the often-neglected emotional and aesthetic aspects of post-war planning. Each essay is grounded in original archival research and sheds new light on this critical era in the development of modern town planning. This collection is a valuable resource for architectural, social and urban historians, as well as students and researchers offering new insights into the development of the mid-twentieth century city.

This anthology of essays by a group of distinguished scholars investigates post-1945 city planning in Britain; not from a technical viewpoint, but as a polemical, visual and educational phenomenon, shifting the focus of scholarly interest towards the often-neglected emotional and aesthetic aspects of post-war planning. Each essay is grounded in original archival research and sheds new light on this critical era in the development of modern town planning. This collection is a valuable resource for architectural, social and urban historians, as well as students and researchers offering new insights into the development of the mid-twentieth century city.

74,30 €

74,30 € (zzgl. MwSt.)

Lieferfrist: bis zu 10 Tage

---

Artikelnummer: 9780415357890

Medium: Buch

ISBN: 978-0-415-35789-0

Verlag: Routledge

Erscheinungstermin: 15.07.2006

Sprache(n): Englisch

Auflage: 1. Auflage 2006

Produktform: Kartoniert

Gewicht: 421 g

Seiten: 272

Format (B x H): 156 x 234 mm

