

Teaching Academic Writing

Teaching Academic Writing examines the issues that confront teachers of academic writing classes, including the use of different media in the classroom, plagiarism and the background issues that may affect students' ability to learn. The twelve teacher-focus chapters offer practical advice and solutions in areas of both teaching and assessment.

consists of ten teaching-focused chapters offering solutions to the issues confronting the teacher of academic writing. The contributors give practical advice about how to teach an academic writing class, offer classroom solutions for the novice teacher, and discuss the place of feedback and assessment. The chapters also examine the use of different media in the academic writing classroom, the problem of plagiarism, and background issues affecting students' ability to learn.

Including a breadth of practical advice and focused around the real issues confronting the teacher of academic writing, this will be the essential book for teachers of academic writing in higher education.
