

McArthur

Living Words

Language, Lexicography and the Knowledge Revolution

In this unique and entertaining collection of articles, a noted scholar and compiler of key works of reference reflects on the nature of language, the art of lexicography and the breath-taking developments in communication, the media and information technology in the late twentieth century. This book ranges widely over three main linked subjects: Language at large and in particular English, the most widely used language in the history of the world, The art and study of dictionaries and reference science, embracing all past, present and potential reference materials-from the OED to the Yellow Pages and The processes through which communication, information and knowledge have evolved-from cave art to the personal computer.

In this unique and entertaining collection of articles, a noted scholar and compiler of key works of reference reflects on the nature of language, the art of lexicography and the breath-taking developments in communication, the media and information technology in the late twentieth century. This book ranges widely over three main linked subjects: Language at large and in particular English, the most widely used language in the history of the world, The art and study of dictionaries and reference science, embracing all past, present and potential reference materials-from the OED to the Yellow Pages and The processes through which communication, information and knowledge have evolved-from cave art to the personal computer.

109,70 €

109,70 € (zzgl. MwSt.)

Lieferfrist: bis zu 10 Tage

Artikelnummer: 9780859896115

Medium: Buch

ISBN: 978-0-85989-611-5

Verlag: University of Exeter Press

Erscheinungstermin: 01.01.1999

Sprache(n): Englisch

Auflage: Erscheinungsjahr 1999

Serie: Exeter Language and

Lexicography

Produktform: Gebunden

Gewicht: 644 g

Seiten: 300

Format (B x H): 157 x 235 mm

