

Bagehot

Lombard Street

A Description of the Money Market

Walter Bagehot (1826-77), the influential political and economic essayist, wrote a number of books that became standards in their respective fields. He attended University College, London, where he studied mathematics and gained a master's degree in intellectual and moral philosophy. He was called to the bar, but instead chose a career in his father's banking business. He wrote widely on literature, economics and politics, co-founding the National Review in 1855. He became editor-in-chief of The Economist in 1860 and remained in that post until his death. This work, published originally in 1873 and described by J. M. Keynes as 'an undying classic', is a masterpiece of economics. It explains the world of finance and banking, concentrating on crisis management, and its ideas are as relevant today as ever, especially in the face of the global financial crisis that emerged in 2007.

53,70 €

50,19 € (zzgl. MwSt.)

Lieferfrist: bis zu 10 Tage

Artikelnummer: 9781108035811

Medium: Buch

ISBN: 978-1-108-03581-1

Verlag: Cambridge University Press

Erscheinungstermin: 03.10.2011

Sprache(n): Englisch

Auflage: Erscheinungsjahr 2011

Serie: Cambridge Library Collection - History

Produktform: Kartoniert

Gewicht: 524 g

Seiten: 372

Format (B x H): 140 x 216 mm

