

The Multipolar Turn

Global Strategies and Power Projections

"The Multipolar Turn" examines the shifts and rivaling interests of new and established actors in an ever-changing geopolitical landscape. The book not only analyses current global strategy documents but also provides in-depth contemporary and historical perspectives to understand the forces reshaping the world order. Readers will gain valuable insights into the dynamics of power shifts and the underlying reasons behind the behaviour of specific actors. It is aimed at academics, students, and anyone interested in the changes in global politics and the role of multilateralism. In this way, the book offers a comprehensive analysis for a broad audience.

"The Multipolar Turn" examines the shifts and rivaling interests of new and established actors in an ever-changing geopolitical landscape. The book not only analyses current global strategy documents but also provides in-depth contemporary and historical perspectives to understand the forces reshaping the world order. Readers will gain valuable insights into the dynamics of power shifts and the underlying reasons behind the behaviour of specific actors. It is aimed at academics, students, and anyone interested in the changes in global politics and the role of multilateralism. In this way, the book offers a comprehensive analysis for a broad audience.

39,00 €
36,45 € (zzgl. MwSt.)

Lieferfrist: bis zu 10 Tage

Artikelnummer: 9783756030170
Medium: Buch
ISBN: 978-3-7560-3017-0
Verlag: Nomos Verlags GmbH
Erscheinungstermin: 11.12.2025
Sprache(n): Englisch
Auflage: 1. Auflage 2025
Serie: New School of Multilateralism
Produktform: Kartoniert
Gewicht: 198 g
Seiten: 188
Format (B x H): 118 x 185 mm

