

Doing Justice

Procedural Law and Procedural Law Reform in Comparative Perspective

"Doing Justice: Procedure Law and Procedure Law Reform" brings together eleven essays on procedural law in international comparative view. It focuses on criminal procedure while covering topics such as arbitration, court structure, judicial independence, and administrative process. The volume examines legal systems including the U.S., Germany, Israel, Thailand, Vietnam, China, Malaysia, Singapore, and the EU. It offers in-depth insights into the challenges of procedural reform, particularly in Asia, and encourages comparative reflection on principles like justice, efficiency, and legal peace.

"Doing Justice: Procedure Law and Procedure Law Reform" brings together eleven essays on procedural law in international comparative view. It focuses on criminal procedure while covering topics such as arbitration, court structure, judicial independence, and administrative process. The volume examines legal systems including the U.S., Germany, Israel, Thailand, Vietnam, China, Malaysia, Singapore, and the EU. It offers in-depth insights into the challenges of procedural reform, particularly in Asia, and encourages comparative reflection on principles like justice, efficiency, and legal peace.

109,00 €

101,87 € (zzgl. MwSt.)

*Lieferfrist: bis zu 10 TageArtikelnummer: 9783848713882Medium: BuchISBN: 978-3-8487-1388-2Verlag: NomosErscheinungstermin: 09.04.2026Sprache(n): EnglischAuflage: 1. Auflage 2026Serie: CPG Series of Comparative Constitutional Law, Politics and GovernanceProduktform: KartoniertGewicht: 462 gSeiten: 323Format (B x H): 149 x 224 mm