

Scriptorium

Scriptorium is an international publication of mediaeval manuscripts studies that was founded in 1946 by Camille Gaspar (1876-1960) (B), Frédéric Lyna (1888-1970) (B) and François Masai (1909-1979) (B). It is a biyearly multilingual publication about codicology (material description of any aspect of manuscripts : supporting material, page-setting, binding, paleography, miniatures...) informing on cultural environment and offering a bibliography regarding mediaeval manuscripts through Western, Eastern and Central Europe. It contains articles, notes and material or reviews of books and articles (Bulletin codicologique, ca 500 titles per year) related with manuscript culture edited under the responsibility of an international scientific committee.
