Neurodegenerative Diseases

Translational Research of the Nervous System

Neurodegenerative Diseases is a bimonthly, multidisciplinary journal for the publication of advances in the understanding of neurodegenerative diseases, including Alzheimer's disease, Parkinson's disease, amyotropic lateral sclerosis, Huntington's disease and related neurological and psychiatric disorders. Neurodegenerative Diseases accepts high-quality papers in the form of either short reports (less than 5 pages) or articles (6–12 pages) from a broad spectrum of scientific research areas ranging from molecular and cell biology to neuroscience, pharmacology, genetics and clinical sciences.
